THE PARIS EXHIBITION

The Marvellous Sights and Displays—The Great Eiffel Tower.

The Arrangement of the Immense Show—The Paris of the Past.

Paris, August, 31—Paris is the city of the revolution. The exhibition has been erected to celebrate the centenary of that great upheaval. We stand in the Paris of to-day, and marvel at its sights, its public buildings, its boulevards, its theatres, its churches, its bridges, above all its exhibition. Through this exhibition we roam day by day, studying its branches, gazing on the products of all the countries of the world gathered beneath its ample shelter, jostling and being jostled by crowds from every nation beneath the sun. At night time we feast again on its marvels, irradiated and illumined by the magic of 10,000 electric lights. We sit entranced listening to strains of sweetest music that seem to pervade each dome and aisle. We climb the Eiffel tower, and from the summit of that airy, graceful shaft of filagree, obtain a great panoramic view of the heart of France. In the daytime a flag—the flag of France—flutters at its masthead; but at night there streams over the great city a light which represents the transmuted energy of engines of 500-horse power. They say that the beacon on the Eiffel Tower is visible at a distance of forty miles, and that by the rays of its lamps you may read a newspaper in the street of St. Germain, at least eleven miles distant, as the crow flies. Truly wonderful this tower. In 1789 the Parisians threw down their Bastile. In 1889 they raise their Eiffel tower, the last to celebrate the first. Its cost was over $1,000,000. Its weight is 7500 tons. Its height is 1000 feet; 12,000 separate girders and 2,500,000 rivets were employed in its construction. Hydraulic elevators convey you to its summit in a few minutes. Altogether it is the most unique feature of the exhibition. At present it is an excellent paying investment. Its use for the future is less clear. M. Eiffel himself says it will become a colossal observatory, and is enthusiastic over its scientific possibilities in peace and its strategic ability in war. Let us wish it all success, and pass on, or rather under, for to penetrate into the exhibition itself, the visitor must pass between the gigantic legs of this iron Titan. But before reaching the tower, as we approach the exhibition from the Place de la Concorde, the first thing that strikes the visitor is the monumental gate on the Quai d' Orsay. On the other side of the river you see there two fantastic Cambodian pagodas through the trees, gay with gilt and bright with color. They mark with their flags and attendant pinnacles the gate to the French Colinderies, established immediately behind, on the esplanade of the Invalides. Here rise a mass of fairy pinnacles and spires, forming one of the prettiest effects of the exhibition. The blue domes of the turrets of the gastronomic palace—a gigantic sampling house for all kinds of eatables—and the tall minaret of the Algerian palace stand in the foreground; behind are dimly seen a mass of pagodas and spires, while still further back, yet high over all, towers the golden dome of the Invalides. The effect is very striking. The trophies of the colonizing enterprise of France are clustered, as it were, in homage round the tomb of the Great Captain who founded the First Empire. Beyond the pinnacles, among the trees you can see the imposing outline of the building erected by the Ministry of War, which occupies the place of honor on the Esplanade. Next comes a low unpretentious building where the Transvaal Boers exhibit the products of the South African Republic. Passing Swedish and English butter and cream manufactories, you come upon the agricultural galleries. These form one of the most useful, but least popular features of the exhibition. There are two of them, stretching for nearly a mile along the river bank, and linking the Esplanade des Invalides with the Champ de Mars by a parallel arcade, in which are displayed the agricultural products of France and her sister nations. When you reach the Pont des Invalides, you catch the first glimpse of the towers of the Trocadero, crowning the hill on the right hand. This forms the only part of the exhibition on the north bank of the Seine. The buildings were erected in 1878, and have ever since been one of the show places of Paris. This year they form a flower show annexe of the exhibition. Next we come upon a bit of brilliant coloring and beautiful decorative effect in the light foot-bridge that spans the Place de l' Alma. It is more of a triumphal arch than a foot-bridge. The shields of the towns and departments of France, with the arms of Paris in the centre, stand side by side in a flat arch, while overhead flutter their innumerable flags. Then in quick succession we have the buildings erected by the Chambers of Commerce of Havre, Marseilles and Brest, another by the Ministry of Public Works, besides the conspicuous panorama of the Transatlantic Steamship Company, and the charming Forestry Pavilion.

So much for the external appearance of the Exhibition. Inside, passing under the Eiffel Tower, we are confronted by the beautiful sculptured groups in the Fountain of Progress, the effect of which at night-time with its falling cascades illumined by countless electric lights is most striking. To describe the whole interior of the exhibition in the limits of a newspaper article would be impossible, its galleries of painting and architecture; its hall of machinery; its British section, a gigantic exhibition in itself; its American section, where Mr. Edison has a colossal model of an incandescent lamp of 20,000 bulbs, and all the latest developments in telephones and phonographs. Then there are the types of various houses, Greek and Ross an, Sardanese villa, Mexican, Argentine, and Chilian pavilions, Japanese village, Arabic palace, a street in Cairo, the Grand Frieze, and the Central Dome. All these are but a few noticeable points in the grand ensemble. To see the whole exhibition thoroughly it is estimated would cost a foot passenger a walk of fifty miles. We are accustomed to gigantic shows in America; but even the Americans themselves must own that the Paris Exhibition of 1889 is not a thing to be sneered at.

And yet when all is seen and studied, it is not the Paris of to-day that excites our wonder and admiration so much as the Paris of the past. Stand in the Place de la Concorde, and summon up before your mind's eye the pictures of the last one hundred years, the roar of the surging mob around the Bastille, the fall of that grim fortress, the emblem of the chains that bound the free aspirations of a great people; then the Hotel de Ville, where poor weak Louis XVI donned the tricolor, and showed himself at a window, hoping thereby to conciliate Demos—Demos, who refused to be conciliated and afterwards shore off his head. Here it was that Maximilian the Incorruptible shot himself in the jaw in a vain attempt to escape that arrest, which led to his summary execution on the Place de la Revolution, that sombre square of bloody memory, where besides Louis and his Queen, besides Robespierre and Danton, fell St. Just and Camille Desmoulins, Philippe Egalite and Anacharsis Cloots, with a vast throng of nearly 3000 more. Then the Reign of Terror passes, to be succeeded by the Convention, who inviting the aid of Citizen Bonaparte to quell the rising of the mutinous sections, unwittingly sign the doom of the Revolution. Then rise before our eyes the glories and humiliations of the First Empire, the restoration of the Bourbons, the transfer of the throne to the younger branch in the person of Louis Philippe, the second republic giving way on that fateful December night to the Second empire, all the work of the great coup d' etat undone in 1871 by Sedan. To-day we see a third republic, and behind it the shadow of yet another Dictator. Truly a great series of events, which yet make as realize only more clearly the truth of the saying, "Happy is the nation that has no history."

Unconsciously almost we leave the Place de la Concorde, cross the river and make our way to the gilded dome of the Church of the Invalides. There in the crypt in huge sarcophagus of Finnish marble lie the ashes of the Napoleon I. There we stand dimly conscious that at our feet are the remains of the great link between the France of the past and the France of to day. And still after a hundred years, the nations gather round his tomb listening, as children listen to the murmur that dwells in the shell, to the far-off echoes of the thunder tramp of that great captain, who was at once the child and the gravedigger of the Revolution.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Kamloops' View on the Baseball Match—Artillery Practice.

A party writing to a friend in this city from Kamloops, has the following to say in reference to the late tournament:

"There are always two sides to a question and the accounts in the Victoria papers being very much one-sided, I cannot help mentioning one or two facts in connection with the tournament. Your papers state that in the Port Townsend and Kamloops game, Kamloops would not allow one of Vancouver's importations to play against them in the Townsends. Now, Kamloops was quite willing to let Port Townsend take the Vancouver battery but the Victoria manager, Fee, objected so strongly that the Port Townsend team left the field and went to their hotel. Just as the Townsend men left the field I saw Fee, who seemed to be possessed of the idea that allowing the Port Townsend team the Vancouver men would in some way affect their (Victoria's) chance, and hinted that it was possibly Kamloops' intention to throw the game, thus making a tie all round to this. I replied that Kamloops could not afford to throw the game, as Kamloops' boys had over $300 up on the result of it, and to further convince him I offered to bet him $20 that Kamloops would win if he would let the Vancouver battery play with Townsend, and explained to him that it was to their advantage to allow this, as our boys would have to put up a better game, of which they would get the advantage of when playing against them the following day. After wasting considerable time in arguing in this manner, it finally dawned upon Mr. Fee that it might be to their (Victoria's) advantage to allow the game to proceed; but the Townsend team had left the field and gone down town. The committee finally decided not to allow the game to go on, as the Victoria manager made such a kick about it. Your own manager is the person to blame for the game not being played, and had it not been for his objections the Kamloops and Victoria game would no doubt have been closed the following day. In the second Kamloops and Victoria game, you have the umpire's decision, which I don't think can be disputed. It was the best play March could make at the time, but had your base runners been watching him closely they would not have moved. It further shows that your coachers were not up to the mark, or they would have at once checked the base runners and sent them back to their bases. This could have been done before the ball was placed on first base; but I think your men were a little too much excited. However that may be, they were defeated, and I think it would be much more becoming for them to take their defeat like gentlemen and not act in the manner they are. As to the charge that they were all brought from Minneapolis only to play ball, is ridiculous to me. There are some members of the club from that city, but these are engaged in different branches of business in this town, with the exception of two. Of those who played in the tournament there are four brakemen and one conductor in the employ of this road running out of here, one clerk, and one photographer."

WRESTLING.

W. H. Quinn is anxious to meet Cameron and McLeod in a triangular contest for a purse of $3000, the contest also to be left open for the Jap, Matsada Sorakichi, to enter if he chooses to do so and is willing to put up another $1000.

BASEBALL.

A match will take place at the Caledonia grounds to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m., between the Wellington and James Bay nines. An interesting and well contested game may be looked for as the Wellingtons have lately strengthened their team making the two nines evenly matched. The price of admission will be 25 cents, boys under twelve half price and ladies free. The following are the names of the players who will compose the nines:

JAMES BAYS.	POSITION.	WELLINGTONS.
Jackson	pitcher	Reilly
Hannan	catcher	Douglas
Naylor	1st base	Love

Deasy	shortstop	Saunders
Franklin	3rd base	Manson

Mr. Edwards, umpire; Wolfenden and Lorimer, substitutes.

ARTILLERY PRACTICE.

The annual artillery practice of B. C. B. G. A. began to-day at Finlayson's Point and will be continued to-morrow. There was a fair attendance of visitors, but the strong wind blowing made it somewhat unpleasant for the sight-seers. The gun used is a 64 pounder and the distance is 1200 yards. The highest possible score is 16, and the highest undivided score in the preliminary practice was made by Gunner Newbury. Following is the score in the preliminary practice, No. 2 Battery, Capt. Irving:

B. S. M. Sinclair	11
Gunner Norgate	11
" Fisher	4
" McCosham	5
" Evans	4
Corp. Baxter	10

San Francisco, Sept. 20.—Advices from Central America by the steamship Acapulco state that the president of Honduras has gone to Guatemala in order to meet Presidents Barrilar, of Guatemala, and Menendez, of Salvador, and make arrangements with them in order to mediate on the serious difficulties which have arisen respecting the inter-oceanic canal between Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Mr. Misser, American minister to Central America, says that the difficulties have arisen more from a jealous guarding of the national dignity on both sides than from any actual injury done or suffered, and he is confident the differences will be settled harmoniously before the end of next month.

HE IS URGED.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Major Wm. Warner, of Missouri, has been asked by the president to reconsider his determination not to accept the post of commissioner of pensions. He goes to Deer Park this afternoon to confer with President Harrison.

OLD IN CRIME.

Moorehead, Minn., Sept. 20.—John Thomas Raymond, alias Thomas Brown, was hanged in the corridor of the jail here at 4 o'clock this morning. Raymond shot and killed Policeman Powell in this city last December. Though but 26 years old the murder of Powell was not his only grave crime. Burglaries and robberies by the score can be charged to his account, and at least two murders must be added to his list. A year ago a pugilist named Fulljames, of Winnipeg, was killed in a prize fight in a barn in Grand Forks. The murderer was never caught. Brown's confession clears up the mystery. The man who killed Fulljames was Boston Carey, otherwise known as Box Carey, and a few days later he was shot dead by Brown near Hillsboro, Dakota, in the road.

REPENTANT MOORS.

Madrid, Sept. 20.—Advices from Tangiers say that the Moors have issued a proclamation warning the natives not to harm Christians on pain of death. It is believed that the ruffians will release the captured Spanish sailors on Saturday.

THE TOURNAMENT.

The World's Record Broken By Astoria's Team.

Tacoma, Sept. 20.—Yesterday's races passed off in grand style and competitors and spectators were more pleased thereby.

At 11:45 the Association championship race was commenced under the following conditions: Run 150 yards to hydrant, attach and lay 350 feet of hose, put on pipe, get water, take length of hose from cart, replace second length from hydrant and get water, time to be called when the water passes the pipe the second time, hose cart to carry 450 feet of hose; first prize, $500; second, $200; third, $100. The time was: Corvallis, 124 2-5; East Portland, no time; Walla Walla, no time; Union No 1, Tacoma, 135; Seattle, 116 3-10; Tacoma No. 2, 126 9 20; Astoria, 109 2-5; Vancouver, 115 1-5. Astoria, 1st; Vancouver, 2nd; Seattle, 3rd. Previous to this 112⅗ made at Denver, was the best on record.

VANCOUVER AGAIN.

The speed race was the next, with 12 men each, to run 700 feet, carts to carry not less than 250 feet of hose; time to be taken when the centre of the reel crosses the line. First prize, $350; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50.

The following is the score made: Astoria, 27 4-5; Seattle, 29 15; Nanaimo, 28 ½; Victoria, 28; Tacoma, No. 2, 28; East Portland, 28; Walla Walla, 29; New Westminster, 28¾; Vancouver, 27¾; Corvallis, 23. Vancouver, 1st; Astoria, 2nd; Victoria, Tacoma, East Portland, and Corvallis tied for 3rd.

The Vancouver team has redeemed itself from slurs cast upon it some time ago at Seattle, and the boys are elated, as they have a right to be, and will carry away the principal prizes, about $2000.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

The U. P. Ready to Parallel the N. P. to the Coast.

San Francisco, Sept. 20.—Commenting on the report that the Northern Pacific railway has enjoined the Union Pacific from building across its track at Spokane Falls, a well-known railway official to-day said: "That will not amount to anything except to cause a few days delay. These two roads are having a cat and dog fight in Oregon and Washington. The Union Pacific, through its leased line, the Oregon Navigation Company, is doing some rapid construction now. By the 1st of October it will be in Spokane Falls. In Idaho it is working under the name of the Washington and Idaho Railway. That road will go to Mullen, Missoula, and Garrison. This is all Northern Pacific territory that is being invaded. There is also going to be an invasion north from Portland before long. The Union Pacific wants to reach Tacoma, Seattle and Puget Sound, and I think the Northern Pacific people will let the Union Pacific run its trains over their track to these points. If they do not concede that privilege it is my opinion that under the name of the Port Townsend and Southern Railway the Union Pacific will build a parallel line. Surveys are in existence for that very purpose."

FRENCH POLITICS.

Boulanger and Friends are Quite Hopeful of Success.

London, Sept. 20.—A representative of the press news association called upon General Boulanger at his residence in Portland Place this morning. The general was found in good spirits and confident that the result of the elections in France would be in his favor. He said his friends and supporters were carrying on the campaign with vigor and hope undiminished by the storm of defamation which the government and politicians hurled against him. The general did not think everything would be decided on Sunday next.

There is an unusual number of candidates in the field. At least 2000 nominations have been made for about 600 seats. In consequence of this multiplicity of candidates in many districts a majority would not be obtained, and Boulanger estimated second ballotings would be necessary in 200 cases. These 200 supplementary elections would take place on October 6th.

THE THREE LINKS.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge—Patriarch Militant.

Columbus, Sept. 19—The Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows devoted to-day's session to discussing memorial day for subordinate lodges, the date being from October 2nd to the second Friday in June. After a lengthy discussion the question was referred to a committee.

A member from Kansas introduced another resolution reducing the age of eligibility from 21 to 18, which will bring the question up in the Grand Lodges next year.

The Grand Lodge for the first time recognized the Patriarchs Militant, and complimented Grand Sire Underwood on the appearance of the members.

Topeka is making an effort to secure the Grand Lodge for next year.

The prize drills of the Patriarch Militant took place at the State Fair grounds to-day. The following cantons were each represented by twenty-four swords and participated in the contest: Canton Frank, No. 55, Germantown, O.; Canton Indianapolis, No. 2, Indianapolis, Ind.; Canton Alpine, No. 2, Bowling Green, O.; Canton Logansport, No. 15, Logansport, Ind.; Canton Ottawa, No. 6, Port Clinton, O.; Canton Marion, No. 6, Marion, Ind., Canton Wichita, No. 5, Wichita, Kansas.

THE CONSPIRACY REVEALED.

A Ready-Made Candidate to be Forced Upon the Electors.

We are informed, on excellent authority, that a deep political game is at present being played by the promoters of so-called Liberal Conservative Association, Mr. E. Crow Baker being the original instigator. Some time ago, it will be remembered, that Mr. Baker was concerned in a conspiracy to remove Mr. Hamley from the custom house, in order that he might be appointed a Senator in place of Senator Macdonald, who was to succeed Mr. Hamley. The plot was defeated by Mr. Baker's supporters, several of the most influential sending a vigorous protest to Ottawa. The present conspiracy is simply a revival of the last. Learning by experience that some sort of organization is necessary if the plot is to succeed, an effort is being made to form a Liberal Conservative association, and it is hoped that under its wing Mr. Baker's nominee, who has already been selected, will be returned. The "party" will not be given an opportunity to select a candidate, but one already cut and dried will be provided by the bosses, and under the discipline the organization will introduce the choice of the bosses' choice will, it is expected, be acceptable to the faithful. This attempt to trade in the representation of the city will not, we think, "go down" with the electors. It is a scandalous attempt to traffic in a prerogative of the people, and by the aid of a small coterie of wire-pullers force upon the community a representative who, possibly, never would attain to the distinction in any other way. We have already had too much hole-and-corner business in Dominion elections.

Another Record.

The City of Puebla arrived at precisely two o'clock this afternoon from San Francisco, which port she left at precisely ten o'clock Wednesday morning. On the first day out fog was encountered which lasted for ten hours. After that the sea was like a mill pond, and the "record-breaker" bowled along till reaching this port, 52 hours from San Francisco, which is the fastest up trip on record.

AWFUL CATASTROPHE.

A Portion of Cape Diamond at Quebec Slides Down on Lower Town

And Buries Many People—A Great Many Killed and Wounded.

Special to THE TIMES.

Quebec, Sept. 20.—Last night several thousand tons of rock slid from Cape Diamond, at the end of Dufferin terrace to Champlain street, 300 feet below, demolishing in its course seven dwellings. Up to midnight six bodies had been taken from the ruins. They were Thos. Tarriand and two children; two children named Burke and one unknown child. About twenty five persons have been removed from the debris badly injured. Some have broken arms and legs and others are badly crushed and mutilated. It is supposed that at least thirty persons are under the ruins. The mass of rock detached from the cliff's side left a vacant space of extraordinary dimensions under Dufferin terrace and the great promenade is now unsafe.

LATER.—Ten corpses and sixteen wounded have been taken out. It will take several days to recover all the bodies. The damage will exceed $100,000. The houses in that locality were built of stone and brick and inhabited by ship laborers. The officers and men of the Royal School of Cavalry are coming to the rescue with ropes, picks and shovels. About six hundred men are now at work. Three more bodies have just been taken from the ruins. The bodies are covered with congealed blood and dust and are a sickening spectacle to behold. The Redemptorist Fathers are among the rescuers.

THE RESCUED.

The work of excavating still goes on at the scene of the terrible land slide. But few bodies have been taken out since midnight. A large number of persons are still missing and there is no doubt but they are beneath the ruins and so deep down that they will be dead before rescued. Loss sustained by the surviving victims of the disaster is almost total in addition to the homes lost by the sufferers. The working men lost all their summer's earnings. The injured have been removed to Hotel Dieu, where they are receiving all possible care. The list of the dead will be prepared by noon.

The persons rescued are: Miss Mary Caldwell, Thomas Berrigan, a boy named Berrigand and Mrs. Black, all badly bruised. Mrs. Black states that her husband was killed at the door of their house and is still in the ruins.

KILLED AND WOUNDED

Following is a revised list so far as known up to noon: Killed—Jas. Farrell, three Farrell children, two Burk children, one Bradley child, one child of P. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Brocket, Mrs. Stephen Burke, Harry Black, Mrs. Thos. Berrigan, Wm. Black, Thos. Nolan and Mrs. Reddy. The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. Carbon, Mr. O'Neill, Mrs. Mike Sheridan and child, Thos. Berrigan, Dennis Berrigan, James Hayden, Wm. Steven and son, Nellie Deshey, Pat Fitzgerald, Martin Reddy, three Mayburry children, Stephen Burke and his mother, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Thomas Graham, Miss May Caldwell (seriously), Wm. Power, wife and child, Mrs. Thos. Farrell. Some of the dead and wounded are now being taken out of the ruins, names as yet unknown.

LATER DETAILS.

The work of rescue was pursued unceasingly throughout the night and still goes on with unabated vigor, but the task is a gigantic one. For instance, the Black family were buried under twelve feet of debris. When Miss Mary Caldwell, niece of Mr. Black, was extricated, life was almost extinct. She is seriously hurt. The next person reached was Mr. Thomas Berrigan, whose wife has been taken out. He was badly shattered and is in a critical condition. Then came a boy of eight years, named Berrigan, with his left leg crushed. Mrs. Black was next taken out unconscious and remained so for five hours. She is badly hurt.

The Vancouver Convention in Session To-Day.

Special to THE TIMES.

Vancouver, Sept. 20—This morning's session of the Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of the Pacific Northwest, opened at nine o'clock, with T. E. Henderson, president of the conference, in the chair. Rev. J. G. Thompson of this city conducted a bible reading which was very interesting, followed by Mr. Teague of Victoria on "the importance of summer out door sports and recreation ground." As usual, Mr. Teague was good and received well merited applause. This was supplemented by Mr. George Carter, secretary of Seattle, giving plans for securing grounds for Seattle. Mrs. Fillmore Tanner, of Spokane Falls, wife of the general secretary, read a very pleasant and instructive paper on "Ladies Auxiliary Committee. How to organize & derive most benefits therefrom." "The lyceum, its power and position in our work," was given by E. Smith of Seattle. This subject was thoroughly discussed. After the reading, Mr. Jacks, State Secretary, delivered an excellent talk on "District Work and Conventions," containing many splendid suggestions, and well illustrated by pleasant word pictures. Then followed the "Question Drawer" by Mr. Mason of California, and many puzzling questions were answered in Mr. Mason's usual happy style.

At noon the convention adjourned for lunch at Wilson Hall, where a bountiful repast was set by the ladies. After a hearty lunch, speeches were made by visiting delegates, that by Hon. John Robson being especially fine.

POLITICAL.

In an editorial on Wednesday the Colonist endeavors to show, without any argument, that the opposition to the present local government is poverty stricken. Whether the writer means that the party are in opposition without just cause, or that they have not the means to carry on an election contest, is not clear. True, the opposition have not the means in the way of making lavish expenditure of money as well as an abundance of promises for positions, seen and unseen, as was the case with the government party at the recent bye election. We say position seen and unseen, because such was no doubt the case, and many of these positions in view were promised to many who had no chance of being appointed. On the other hand, although the opposition were without the means of influencing the electors by money, or the promise of money or position, they had the principles to assist them, which were sustained so generally at the polls as to frighten the government into a degree bordering on hysteria. The subsidized organ says that the opposition were badly off for matter to oppose the government, and only condemned it for pursuing a policy which they, the opposition, had inaugurated. Such is not the case, as the opposition never countenanced the levying of a special tax upon the cities for school purposes. During the last election this question was clearly shown to originate with Hon. Mr. Joly, and that he only laid his plans to try and entrap the city trustees to his way of thinking. To say that the opposition had inaugurated a law imposing a tax on the cities of the province is ridiculous, for in and out of the House they have opposed this unjust law. We believe that every one of those who voted for the opposition candidate at the late election, as well as many of those who voted for the government candidate, considered that the special school tax was an unfair and an unjust enactment. We would like our contemporary to show us where and when the opposition advocated such legislation. The policy as advocated by the opposition was that which evidently met with the approval of people, and had the election not been pushed through at so rapid a rate, the present Attorney-General would be seeking an election elsewhere. It was very evident the government had made preparation to surprise the people and have the election over without giving the electors time to think or consider public questions. The late election has taught the government one thing, and that is that Victoria has decided to be done with them. The Attorney General, profiting by his experience, has gone to Cariboo for a holiday trip, and seeing that the electors of Victoria are sick of him, is now looking around for fresh fields. Recently Mr. Davie has favored the residents of Cariboo with a "wa-wa" on political matters, in which he promised that the present government will do great things for that part of the country. It is said before he got through, many were disappointed in not hearing him solicit their vote and confidence at the next general election. His language was so pointed as to create the rumor the following day that he had decided to stand for Cariboo. The Colonist may take heed, so that it will not be mistaken in its calculations as to the voice of the people at the next general election.

TRIAL BY JURY.

The time-honored institution of trial by jury is being put on its defence in various quarters, and will find it a no easy task to maintain its right to exist. In the United States the absurd condition which makes it necessary, in cases of notoriety such as the Cheeks affair, to find twelve intelligent ignoramuses or nobodies to act as jurors, is fast bringing the system into undeserved contempt. In this country, such occurrences as that which took place in Montreal the other day, in which a jury is said to have astonished Judge Doucin by returning a verdict in direct opposition to facts, in evidence, naturally beget distrust of the mode of administering justice under which such results are possible. Even in conservative England, as the Week remarks, such an event as the Maybrick affair, in which the finding of the jury was promptly rejected by popular verdict and virtually set aside by the action of the Home Secretary, can hardly fail to bring the question of the reliability and utility of the jury as an instrumentality for determining the value of evidence to the front earnest for discussion. And yet in each of these typical instances it is tolerably clear that the fault is not in the system itself, but in its administration. The unwisdom, in this day of newspapers and general education, of making it a sine qua non to a juryman's eligibility that he must have formed no opinion on any point of a notorious case, is too obvious to need argument, and affords a curious instance of the extent to which even the most radical of peoples may be enslaved by traditional notions. The Montreal case is clearly one of the ignorant, but too common, prejudice which sets up one standard of morality for dealing with the individual and another for dealing with the government. The mistake in judgment, if there was one, in the Maybrick case, seems to have been that of the judge, rather than that of the jury, who merely voiced his opinions. The incident may show that the British system is defectively administered, in that it does not throw the responsibility for the decision as to the fact so exclusively upon the jury as it should do, but the main bearing of the incident is certainly in favor of, rather than against, trial by jury.

A SPOKANE STEAL.

Although the expression that a person is so mean that he would steal the pennies off a dead pauper's eyes is current, it is seldom we have a condition of turpitude which deserves the appellation. Men get terribly low down in the moral scale, but they seldom perpetrate acts which amount to actual desecration. Thieves are not insensible to the calls of humanity. The thief who would steal from a beggar would be reprobated by his kind. There are exceptions to every rule, however, and in respect to theft which amounts to desecration the latest instance is that of the members of the City Council of Spokane Falls, who have been stealing from the relief funds sent to the fire sufferers. The amount of this steal runs up into the thousands. Several arrests have been made and the chances are the sacrilegious thieves will be punished as they deserve. It is unfortunate in other than a moral sense that a steal of this kind should happen. Disasters are liable to occur at any time, and almost invariably they are followed by a call for pecuniary assistance. Such disclosures as the Spokane steal will make people chary of giving. It is to be hoped that the administrators of the law at Spokane will make an example of their light fingered councilmen in a manner commensurate with their crime. Nothing can be offered in extenuation of theft of this description.

FRENCH COLONIZATION.

Under the republic France is rapidly extending her colonial possessions. At the close of the Napoleonic wars the French had very few colonies left. In 1830 they took possession of Algeria, and in 1881 Tunis was brought under the French flag. According to recently published official statistics the French colonies excluding Gaboon and Congo, have a population of 26,968,249 souls, while France herself, according to the census of 1886, has 38,218,903 inhabitants. Of those nearly 27,000,000—20,000,000 belong to the Indo-Chinese possessions, 3,900,000 to Algeria, 2,10,1,000 to Tunis, while Guadeloupe, Martinique, Reunion and Senegambia have only between 100,000 and 200,000 inhabitants each, and other colonies still less. The total trade of France with her colonies, Algeria included, reaches about 500,000,000 francs, of which 221,000,000 is the value of the imports of France and 277,000,000 the value of the exports from France. Of the four territories Tonkin, Annam, Cambodia and Cochinchina, forming the Indo-Chinese colonies, the trade of three of them (Cambodia furnishes no particulars) amounted in 1887 to 170,821,000 francs, viz., 136,000,000 with foreign states, 12,000,000 intercolonial movement and 22,000,000 with France. The export of these territories to France is only 1,361,000 francs, but the export of France to the same 21,000,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Archbishop Cleary of Kingston, in a moment of unguarded zeal has put himself on record as saying that five-sixths of the population of Canada (meaning the Protestant portion) are doomed to eternal punishment.

The Emperor of Germany is discreetly adopting a pacific demeanor towards all European powers, declaring emphatically his determination to aid in the preservation of peace upon the continent. In his first flush of power, his actions seemed to indicate that all considerations would be subservient to the achievement of military glory, but his brief experience as a ruler of a great nation has sobered him up, and the people begin to feel that his reign will be conservative towards foreign nations and watchful of domestic prosperity.

Apropos of John L. Sullivan's congressional aspirations, in 1832 John Gully was elected to the House of Commons from the borough of Pontefract. His history was a most remarkable one. In 1805 he was a butcher's apprentice and was sent to prison for a pretty bad scrape, wherein knife and cleaver were both used. He was bought out by some of the "fancy" upon a pledge that he would fight to a finish with the greatest pugilist of that time, Pierce, otherwise known as the "Game Chicken." Gully fought him best and was whipped by a scratch; but afterwards, through his "mills" with Belcher and Gregson, held rank as the best prize fighter in England. Then he started a gambling hell and became famous for his inside news of the Newmarket races, making a system of buying up the jockeys. From this he passed into a colossal and successful coal vender, and then fought his way into parliament. Afterwards he became a very respectable and conservative citizen.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Jacob Lockman, Buffalo, N. Y., says he has been using Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for rheumatism; he had such a lame back he could not do anything, but one bottle has, to use his own expression, "cured him up." He thinks it the best thing in the market.

—Ample warning is given us by our lungs when they are in danger. If foolhardy enough to neglect the warning signal, we incur imminent peril. Check a cough at the outset with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—which is a sovereign pulmonic—besides being a remedy for soreness, lameness, abrasions of the skin, tumors, piles, rheumatism, etc.

The Witness Prize Competition.

The winners of the Montreal Witness "Dominion Prize Competition" have just been announced. The competition, concerning which we notice some writers request that it should be made annual, or at least repeated, was a capital device for stimulating patriotism and native literature at the same time. Tales and sketches were asked for from all school children, illustrative of pioneer life in Canada. The Northern Messenger, a small paper published in the same office, was offered as a prize for the best tale in every school in the Dominion. A prize of greater value, Macaulay's history in five volumes, was sent to the writer of the best tale in each county, and a set of Parkman's works was the reward of the best in each province. The judges appointed to award these prizes were men of recognized ability, the judge for the province of British Columbia having been Mr. Samuel E. Dawson, of Montreal. Finally a Dominion prize, a splendid type writer, was awarded by Lord Lorne. The Dominion prize had very curiously been taken by a young lady outside the Dominion, the Witness having, in view of its numerous readers in Newfoundland, counted that province, for the purposes of this competition, as though it had been a part of Canada. No one will be jealous that our little sister province has carried off this honor. The winner is Miss May Selby Holden, of St. John's, whose portrait and autograph appear in the Witness with her tale. The second honor is awarded by Lord Lorne to Norman L. Cook, of Gay's River, N. S., whose production also appears, as will many others. The other province prize winners are; Miss Ellie Ladner, Kamloops, Yale Co., British Columbia; Miss Lizzie McLaren, Woodnorth, Dennis Co., Manitoba; Miss Mary Ann McPherson, River Charlo, Restigouche, New Brunswick; Miss Abigail Smith, Harwich, Kent Co., Ontario; Benj. Howard, Summerside, Prince Co., Prince Edward Island; Victor Morrill, Stanstead, Stanstead Co., Quebec.

Following is the name of the county prize winner for—

Cariboo—Katie Brown, Barkerville.

Lillooet—Miss Rose Lyman, Lillooet.

Nanaimo Co—Miss Catherine Thomas, South Cedar; Miss Violet Leam, East Wellington.

New Westminster Co—Lyman Beecher, New Westminster; L. H. S. Armstrong, Port Moody; Miss Mary Munro, Mateqnt.

Yale Co—Miss Ellie Ladner, Kamloops.

Those who took second prizes were:

Cariboo—Miss Katie Brown, Barkerville.

Lillooet—Miss Rose Lyman, Lillooet.

Nanaimo Co—Miss Catherine Thomas, South Cedar; Miss Violet Leam, East Wellington.

New Westminster Co—Lyman Beecher, New Westminster; L. H. S. Armstrong, Port Moody; Miss Mary Munro, Mateqnt.

Yale Co—Miss Ellie Ladner, Kamloops.

RICHMOND NOTES.

Entertainments and Lectures—The Harvest—Roads and Bridges.

The work on the bridges is progressing as fast as the men can do it. There are fifteen men employed and two spans are already completed. The foreman expects to do about two spans a week, which will require about the middle of November to complete the work.

Farmers are busy threshing and getting their crops ready for market. The yield in hay and grain will fall considerably short of last year, and it is expected that prices will be much higher.

A very successful entertainment and social was held in the new opera hall on the South Arm on Wednesday, 11th inst., under the auspices of the Lulu Lodge of I. O. G. T.

The W. C. T. U. had a very interesting entertainment in the Presbyterian church on Sea island on Friday evening, 13th inst. Interesting and instructive addresses were delivered by the Rev. Mr. Jaffray, Presbyterian minister, and Rev. Mr. Thompson, Methodist minister, who make a strong team on the temperance question. Rev. Mr. Ward, of Clinton, occupied the chair and an excellent choir discoursed sweet music. A collection was taken up and the funds of the society were thereby increased $14.85. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the reverend gentlemen for their interesting and edifying addresses.

The return match between the North Arm and Vancouver rifle clubs will take place on Friday afternoon, 20th inst., on the farm of Mr. Errington, on Sea island.

Mr. A. Murchie, photographer, of New Westminster, has been doing a rushing business through this locality taking views of the private residences, the price being $5 for half dozen. The Lulu school was photographed on Tuesday.

The Rev. Dr. Lucas, M. A., the celebrated divine, is to lecture in the Town Hall on Saturday evening, 28th inst., and will probably preach in one of the churches on the following Sabbath. Subject of the lecture, "Queer things in Australia." A collection will be taken up.

The municipality is constructing new roads along the river front from the bridges to the gulf on Sea island and Lulu island. The former road has to cross an Indian reserve, and the Siwashes have placed a verbal injunction upon it and threaten to scalp the Chinamen if they do not desist. The Mongolians became somewhat alarmed and have abandoned the work for the present. Clubs were freely used for a time and a China-Indian war at one time seemed imminent, but by the interference of the authorities was happily averted.

SEWERAGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The remarks of Alderman Kelly at last meeting of the council, when the aldermen were about to depart to their respective homes, seems to be so full of meaning that I cannot refrain from quoting: "Well, if any of us lives to see this sewer put through, we will do well. This Johnson street sewer is an awful thing; you have only commenced seeing it." Yes, we have only commenced seeing the great blunder likely to be made by our aldermen in the adoption of such a system as laid down in Pickering's plans. After the system of sewerage is adopted it is of the utmost importance that these plans should be of the most modern kind, and having the latest sanitary improvements. We don't find these in Pickering's plans, and even what has been done under his plan seems a blunder. Take the Johnson street sewer. We can see what a failure it is. If this be taken as an example of his work we can readily see at what an enormous expense as well as what an imperfect sewerage system ours is likely to be. The first mistake in Mr. Pickering's system seems only to have been made known to the council, when the sewerage committee recommend "That the committee from the experience gained from the present construction of Johnson street sewer, would suggest that in making provision for house connection that the pipes be brought to a suitable level from the surface of the streets at the cost of the city, to enable the owners to connect with as little expense as possible." This seems a sweeping suggestion to change Pickering's plans, after having so much, that those plans and levels were perfect. But this is only the beginning, and I can hardly believe that Alderman Harris, would have consented to make such a suggestion only that it became a matter of actual experience and not a matter of theory with the people on Johnson street. The question in my mind is, when are these civic blunders to end?

JOHNSON STREET.

BEACON HILL PARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Mr. Mallandaine's feeble endeavors to block the work of improvement that is going on at Beacon Hill are not only meeting with ill success, but have placed that gentleman in a ridiculous light before the more enlightened portion of the community. Many do not believe that he is acting from purely unselfish motives, and consequently his complaints are very little heeded. To men with such ideas as those entertained by Mr. Mallandaine may be attributed the reason that Victoria has so long remained in a state of lethargy, and the more the board of aldermen frown down on these would-be martyrs, the better it will be for the city. The moss-backism displayed by Mr. Mallandaine has hurt him in the eyes of the public greatly, and if he keeps on, all chance he ever had of becoming a public man will be destroyed. When he attempts to foil the work of men who are over head and ears above him in intellect, he has stepped into a false position.

R. H. W.

BEACON HILL PARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—During the last week considerable discussion has been indulged in with regard to the improvements now under way at Beacon Hill. Several correspondents through the Colonist have endeavored to prove that a carriage drive over the hill would ruin it as a place of recreation. Now, sir, I think differently and my reason is this: At present when there are sports of any kind on this disputed spot, the lives of those who are not fortunate enough to be able to ride are endangered by carriages and horses running all over the hill. If this drive, which meets with such weighty opposition, will be kept for carriages and horses, and the balance of the hill reserved for pedestrians, which I believe is the intention, then I say build it by all means, and you will have the thanks of a large majority of our citizens for generations to come. I have always been opposed to carriages being allowed on Beacon Hill and I think this drive is the only way to remedy the evil.

ANOTHER RATEPAYER.

Coal at False Creek.

There is reason to believe, says the Vancouver News, that the diamond drill now being operated on the C P R property, just south of Granville street bridge, has struck a coal vein at a depth of over 1000 feet. The drill had been idle for two weeks until Tuesday, waiting for lengths of rod, which arrived this week, and work resumed that day, when it is understood the vein was touched. Neither confirmation nor denial of the report was obtained from the men in charge, whose motto is, "Ask no questions and we'll tell no lies." It was the intention of the company to sink the drill 1300 feet, and if without results to test in another place at a lower level. There is no doubt of the result of the boring, as according to the opinion of the geological experts who have examined the location, it is simply a matter of how deep the formation lies. Another and important discovery was made, concerning which there appears to be little doubt, viz., that of a distinct outcropping on the shore of False Creek several hundred yards south of where the drill is located.

"WHY SHOULDN'T I?"

My canary sings the whole day long
Behind his gilded wires;
Thus in from all that birds enjoy
And happy song inspires;
The freedom, grace and action fine
Of wild birds he foregoes,
But spite of that, with lightsomeness
His little heart o'erflows.
"The world is wide,
And birds outside
In happy cheer always abide—
Why shouldn't I?"

I, too, must dwell behind the bars
Of toil and sacrifice;
From heavy heart and weary brain
My prayers or songs arise,
Yet, all around, sad hearts abound
And troubles worse than mine.
If aught of comfort I can bring
To them, shall I repine?
God's world is wide;
If I can hide
My crowning tears and sing beside—
Why shouldn't I?

STORIES OF DANIEL DREW.

The Innocent Little Package He Sent to a Wavering Legislator.

The seats in the smoking compartments of the Lansing car the other morning were all filled, and the air was odorous of cabbage leaves and odoriferous of burning Havana tobacco. Each smoker had some stories to tell, and from the lot a few samples are given below:

"My first experience," said W. B. Bates, "was in the New York legislature. I was a boy then and I held a clerkship in the document room. Those were the days when Daniel Drew was one of the princes of the state. One day Mr. Drew came into the room and said to me:

"'Boy, can you write?'

"I said I could.

"'Well, I want you to fill out these passes,' and he threw down a handful of the pasteboards, which I filled out according to his list, while he slowly and laboriously put in the signature that made them good. When the work was done, I said:

"'Mr. Drew, you haven't got another of those passes, have you?'

"He looked keenly at me a moment and then said:

"'Young man, you're learning your lesson early. What is your name?'

"I told him.

"'My secretary,' he continued, 'will be here at noon and will bring you a pass.'

"I supposed that Mr. Drew would forget all about the matter, but he didn't. I got the pass."

"That reminds me of a little experience I had with Mr. Drew," said Capt. Joe Nicholson.

"I had a cargo consigned to him with orders not to deliver it without taking Mr. Drew's personal receipt. When I went to get the paper he stopped up to sign it and I asked him to have some one identify him, as I had never seen him before, and I did not know how big a man he was. He readily complied, and then I applied for $500, as I had authority to do, to buy supplies.

"'Certainly, certainly,' he said. 'But first get some one to identify you.'

"In vain I suggested that he had just given me a receipt as the captain of the vessel. That wouldn't do, and you can believe it took me some time to find a person who knew both Daniel Drew and myself."

"Well, sir," began Mr. Bates, promptly taking up the thread of the discourse, "Mr. Drew came into the document room one day and asked me if there was a bright young lad about. I called a sharp little chap. Mr. Drew pulled from his pocket a big roll of bills. He took a piece of the same paper, such as chewing tobacco was then rolled in. Then he wrapped the roll of bills neatly and twisted the ends until the package looked exactly like a roll of fine cut. He gave it to the boy, saying:

"'You know Representative Blank? (The boy said he did.) Well, you go up pretty near him and just as the man who is now speaking starts to sit down, you give this fine cut to Representative Blank and tell him Daniel Drew sent it.'

"The boy obeyed his instructions to the letter. Representative Blank pocketed the package and when the honorable member had finished Mr. Blank arose and made a learned and eloquent speech against the bill. Mr. Drew listened with satisfaction and then gave the boy $10 and told him to keep quiet."—Detroit Journal.

Edison's Laboratory.

Among the materials stored in Edison's laboratory are samples of every substance in the world; the thousands of pigeon holes and drawers contain skins, feathers and furs of the whole animal creation, bones and tusks of all sorts of creatures, minerals, barks, grasses, drugs, fruits and gums in bewildering completeness. Some of the species are so rare that they are kept like diamonds, in little folded papers. The grotesque nature of some of the materials there collected prompted the inquiry:

"How can you ever want such things as sharks' teeth or rhinoceros' horn?"

"That shows that you don't know what queer things electricians use," replied our modern Virgil. "During the progress of the experience with the incandescent electric light, for instance, nearly everything one can think of was tried as a primary material from which to form the delicate carbon filament whose incandescence is the source of the light. Finally, as perhaps you know, shreds of one particular variety of bamboo were found to give the most gratifying results; and there, by the way, you can see a few bales of the very reeds from which those strips are cut. Again, the delicate needle, which, affixed to the under side of the vibrating diaphragm of the phonograph, indents the smooth, revolving surface of the wax cylinder, had to be formed of some material possessing peculiar properties of elasticity and rigidity. Scores of the most unlikely substances, both organic and inorganic, natural and artificial, were tried before the right one was hit upon. And so it goes with all the details of electric appliances."—Cosmopolitan.

A Blind Bridal Couple.

Every pleasant evening, in that hour just before twilight which we all love to idle away with inconsequential thoughts and observations, there passes my window a couple that greatly interests me. The lady is but a young girl, it seems, and she has such a pretty face, so white and peaceful, with something of sadness in it, something of joy.

She has great eyes that stare strangely at you, and, at the sound of her companion's voice, their lids are dropped, and the long, graceful eye lashes fall upon her cheeks. The man reminds me of one of the old Saxons. He is big and strong, and has the curly golden hair and the big blonde beard of that race of men. His companion hangs on his arm, and yet he seems to depend upon her as much as she on him, for they cling very closely indeed together, while he carefully picks their way out with a light cane.

Both are blind. I inquired about them the other day. Neither ever saw the light of day. Neither can ever know how glorious the sunlight is, how prettily blend the beautiful hues of the flowers, how grand all nature looks. Neither ever saw the other! and yet they are a bridal pair!

They only live in a world of darkness and in each other. They met long ago, became devotedly attached to each other and were married. And so now every evening, when the weather is fine, they go out for a little stroll, and as they slowly, carefully walk past my window I think: "It is a sad and yet pretty sight—a blind bridal pair!"—Toledo Blade.

His Serious Fault.

A physician was negotiating the other day for a horse, which was warranted sound, a good roadster and everything that the heart of a driver could desire. As a final precaution he inquired: "Is he afraid of anything on the road?" "Well, not much of anything," hesitated the owner. "He shies a little at anything high—like the entrance to a cemetery." And the man did not realize that he had said the wrong thing till the doctor's quizzical expression took the wool from his wits. Well, we are all a bit afraid of the entrance to a cemetery, but, shy as we may, thither we tend.—Boston Commonwealth.

Following His Instructions.

"What are you doing, Patrick?"

"Wakin' up your husband, ma'am."

"But why?"

"Because it's tin o'clock, ma'am, when I was to give him the dhrops to make him shlape."—The Epoch.

Oliver Levin, of the city police, and H. L. Holmes returned to-day from the San Francisco on the City of Puebla.

Mel ord Stewart, ex-mayor of Otta w arrived from San Francisco to-day.

Another Scheme.

F. J. Nolan, representing the Western Advertising Co, is in the city. He intends submitting a proposition to the city council for advertising the city in the east and the old country. His idea is to take views of the principal buildings and scenes around Victoria, and putting them on exhibition in different cities. Tacoma and Seattle have contributed towards advertising themselves.

Grand Evening Concert.

Mr. H. E. Loseby's grand evening concert, under the patronage of Lieutenant-Governor Nelson, Admiral Heneage and the officers of H M. Fleet, Mayor Grant and others on Wednesday evening, 25th inst., promises to be a grand success. Mr. Loseby will be assisted by the celebrated string band of the Swiftsure, and a number of ladies and gentlemen, well known vocalists of Victoria. The programme is both select and extensive and a thoroughly enjoyable evening may be anticipated.

Breeds Pestilence.

The gutter near the corner of Meares and Vancouver streets is full of stagnant water and filth. In fact all the street gutters in that vicinity are full of filth, and a case of diphtheria probably due to this cause is reported in that neighborhood.

A Noble Work.

A private letter received in this city from Mr. Mathieson, superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Belleville, Ont., says he has just returned from an extended Pacific coast tour, and that while on the tour he granted over sixty permits for defective youth to enter the Belleville asylum.

Sewer Pipes.

The schooner Annie Larsen arrived today, seventeen days from San Francisco. She brought 300 tons of sewer pipe for H. H. McDonald, contractor for the Johnson street sewer. The pipe will be unloaded at Hall & Goepel's wharf at once. Work on the sewer will now proceed at a rapid rate.

Hymeneal.

The marriage of Frank S. Findley, formerly one of the proprietors of the Brunswick hotel, this city, and Hettie, eldest daughter of Mr. Robt. Butler of the government printing office, will be solemnized in the morning, after which they will take the Walla Walla en route to their new home in Los Angeles.

Many Appeals.

The time for handing in appeals from the recent re-assessment valuation of real estate and improvements, expired this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The court of appeals will sit on Monday next in the city hall, when the prayers of the appellants will be considered. About eighty property holders have put in appeals for over-valuation.

A Watch Stolen.

A deck hand of the steamer Yosemite, while loading salmon on the bark Hastede yesterday afternoon, placed his vest containing a watch on the bark. Later on he discovered the time-piece missing, and informed Officer Campbell of the fact. The officer boarded the Hustede this morning to hunt up the man on whom there was a suspicion, but the quarry had flown and is still missing.

A Lost Buoy.

The American buoy picked up at sea by the sealing schooner W. P. Sayward is still on the schooner. The owners of the vessel have notified the Port Townsend authorities, who in turn have sent out inquiries along the coast to find out where it came from. No answer has yet been received. A claim for salvage will be made by the finders amounting to $500 or thereabouts.

Marital Woes.

The young couple who were recently married in public and went to housekeeping, have severed the marital tie, the husband leaving for the Sound a few days ago. On Wednesday the prize bedroom set was taken possession of by A. Aaronson, who held a chattel mortgage on the same. A well-known young man of this city, who has figured in affairs which do not redound to his credit, is a party to the unhappy termination of this affair.

He Got Even.

Constable O'Connell of Nanaimo came over from a pleasure trip spent in Tacoma during the firemen's tournament, and is happy that he got even on at least one crook, named Brown, alias Cateb, who escaped from the Nanaimo gaol some time ago. The constable recognized Brown in Tacoma, and as there were several robberies reported the former pointed the Tacoma police, who hunted up Brown and nabbed him for a theft committed. Officer O'Connell says, "he got away from me once, but I got even on him, anyway."

Rather Anomalous.

Many are of the opinion that an oversight should occasionally be overlooked or a little latitude accorded responsible parties, even if a precedent is established. At the last sitting of the board of aldermen a case occurred whereby, it is held, if a little elasticity could have been conveniently used a saving to the city would have been effected. Reference is made to the tenders for a brick culvert on Second street, in which the tender of Mr. Humber was $56 lower than the tender accepted, but the former was not accepted because it lacked a certified check, a necessary accompaniment. Yet at the same time the corporation is indebted to Mr. Humber for over $1000 for bricks supplied for public works.

Johnson's Minstrels.

Lew Johnson's Black Baby Boy Minstrels opened their engagement last evening at the opera house to a large and highly appreciative audience and merited the delight which was manifested by frequent and enthusiastic applause. The end men was the centre of attraction and succeeded in keeping the house in a constant hilarious uproar. The specialties of Hamden, Taylor, Green, Hawkins and Wade, was a whole show in themselves, while the bass solo, "Rocked in the Cradle on the Deep," rendered by O. T. Jackson, met with encore after encore. The finale, "Love in Kentucky," or the "Rival Lovers" was a very laughable comedy, each member looked and acted their respective parts to perfection.—Sacramento Bee, Aug. 11. Reserved seats for sale at Waitt's.

The Political Association.

At a meeting last night, which was rather meagrely attended, the so-called "Liberal Conservative association" elected the following officers: President, Lieut.-Col. Prior, M.P.; first vice-president, T. B. Hall; second vice-president, Alex. McDonald; managing committee, Chas. Hayward, W. Lorimer, Jas. Stewart and John Braden; finance committee, H. E Crossdaile, W. H. Ellis and W. Wilson. The association thus far has not met with the encouragement expected. A great many of the former supporters of the Macdonald and Robson governments have declined to assist in the organization of a party on the lines proposed and preferring to remain untrammelled have refused to become members. The proper attitude of Victorians to the Ottawa government is not, they think, that of pledged supporters, while the real object—the support of a Grit like Honest John in the local government—is distasteful to a still larger number of influential men. The "association" will have a short and inglorious history.

A NEW BRICK.

Messrs Lenz & Leiser to Build a Handsome Structure

Keeping in the march of progress, the enterprising firm of Lenz & Leiser of this city have decided to erect a handsome three story brick building on the southwest corner of Yates street and Commercial alley. The lot is 57 by 90 and has been vacant since the old buildings on it were burned down some years ago. At present no advertising fence is on the property. Messrs. Lenz & Leiser see in Victoria a grand future, and to meet their growing business require larger premises than at present occupied on Government street. They have not fully decided whether to commence operations this year or wait till next spring.

A COAL FLEET.

Owing to a Strike a Coal Fleet Will Load at Comox.

At present the coal miners at the Carbon Hill coal mine near Tacoma are on strike. There are about four hundred men out and the prospects are that the mine will be closed for some time to come. In consequence of this the Southern Pacific railway coal fleet are compelled to go to the Union mines, Comox, for their cargoes. The first vessel in the ship Palestine, which arrived at Port Townsend last Friday en route to the Carbon Hill mines, but on account of the strike was ordered to Comox. She has completed her cargo and is ready to sail. The other vessels of the fleet to follow the Palestine are the Alaska, Oriental, Yosemite and Two Brothers.

ANOTHER SEALER.

Arrival of the Beatrice from the Sealing Grounds.

The sealing schooner Beatrice, Capt. McKell, owned by E. B. Marvin & Co., arrived from Behring sea last night at 12 o'clock, with 700 sealskins. The Beatrice left Behring sea on the 28th August and made the run to Hesquoit Sound in 14 days. Owing to being becalmed the schooner was five days in reaching Victoria from Hesquoit. Capt. McKell reports that he never once sighted the Rush, and of course was not particularly anxious to do so. On the 16th August he lost three canoes, each containing two Indians. The canoes, six in number, went out in the morning of the 16th, the weather being fine and beautifully clear. During the day, however, fog came up very thickly, and about 4 o'clock three of the canoes returned but the others did not. Capt. McKell stayed around five days, burning a seal blubber light at the mast head every night, in the hope of picking up the missing hunters, but nothing was seen of them. The Indians belonged to Ahatalset on Nootka Sound. A schooner was seen during the day on which the Indians were lost and the captain thinks they may have been picked up by her.

On the 17th July Capt. McKiel spoke the schooner Lily L., of San Francisco, with 200 skins and on the 21st July he spoke the Henry Dennis, of Salem, Or., with 100 skins. He also spoke the Annie C. Moore, which arrived in port a few days ago.

The Victoria sealers yet to arrive are the Mary Ellen, Theresa, Maggie Mac and Favorite.

LORD STANLEY'S VISIT.

Committee Appointed to Arrange for His Reception.

A meeting to arrange for the reception and entertainment of His Excellency Governor-General Stanley, and Lady Stanley, was held in the city hall Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Mayor Grant occupied the chair and there were present Lieut.-Col. Prior, M. P., James Fell, A. C. Flummerfelt, Ald. Harrison, W. M. Chudley, Morris Moss, S. P. Mills, John Boyd, Chas. Hayward, W. F. Bullen, T. B. Hall, J. H. Todd, A. J. Smith, H. E. Crossdaile, T. J. Partridge and W. J. Dowler.

The mayor stated the object of the meeting and said that Lord and Lady Stanley would probably be in Victoria on October 31st. It would be for the citizens present to consider what line the reception to the distinguished visitors would take. He thought there would be no difficulty in procuring the necessary funds for any form of entertainment decided on.

Lt.-Col. Prior—Lord Stanley would appreciate a good reception. He was a keen lover of outdoor sports, enjoyed a good dinner and could make an excellent speech. He asked if the council would contribute liberally, and he thought the citizens should and would decorate the streets, and erect one or more triumphal arches. Then C Battery and the local militia could turn out to meet the visitors on their arrival. It had been suggested that the Board of Trade would give a banquet in the event of the city giving a grand ball. The jockey club would provide an interesting series of events and he had no doubt Admiral Heneage would assist with naval manoeuvers.

Chairman Grant remarked that he believed the city council would make a reasonable contribution toward the entertainment.

Mr. Fell thought the corporation would act liberally in this matter. They had done so before on similar occasions, and he advised that a committee be formed to arrange preliminaries, and a programme, to be submitted at another meeting. He moved for the appointment of a committee.

Mr. Mills seconded the resolution. He thought that with the experience of the past Victoria should make the present reception a grand success. Whatever was done should be done in the best style.

Mr. Crossdaile said that whatever steps were taken in the matter of a reception would be followed up by the city.

Mayor Grant thought it would be well to appoint a general committee to meet the members of the council and confer with them as to what they were prepared to do.

Ald. Harrison as one member of the council was in favor of a liberal amount for a good reception.

After some further discussion of the question by the Mayor and Messrs. Fell, Crossdaile and Todd, a resolution was passed naming the Mayor and Council, Rear Admiral Heneage and the officers of the fleet, together with those present, as a general committee, with power to add to their number, to arrange a programme and meet again on Saturday evening.

The following gentlemen were subsequently named as members of the general committee: E. Crow Baker, M. P.; Robert Ward, W. C. Ward, Thomas Earle, T. R. Smith, M. Stronge, E. A. McQuade, Simon Leiser, S. J. Pitts, A. J. Langley, Captain Walter Shears, C. E. Redfern, Wm. Wilson, A. Wilson, John Braden, Henry Croft, W. McLean, John Partridge, D. Hart, G. H. POLICE COURT.

[Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C.]

Two prisoners occupied the dock in the police court this morning. One was the young man arrested yesterday on suspicion of stealing a suit of clothes from a waiter in the Delmonico Hotel. The clothes not having been found, and there being no evidence against him, he was discharged.

James Neville, charged with stealing a hat of the value of $3.25 from W. G. Cameron's store, pleaded guilty. He told His Honor that he was drunk at the time and did not realize what he was doing when he took the hat. He further remarked that he had "money enough in his pockets to buy all the hats in Cameron's store."

W. G. Cameron testified that the prisoner walked into the store, picked up a hat and made off with it.

His Worship told the prisoner that if he had made restitution of the hat when he had "come to his senses," it would have been a mitigating circumstance, but as he had not, he would send him to jail for three months at hard labor.

As the prisoner was led out of the dock he remarked, in a nonchalant manner to the court, "That was a dear and expensive hat, wasn't it?"

Marriage.

A quiet wedding took place last night at the residence of Miss Campbell, Meares street. The principals were Thos. Reeves and Miss Mary Edmond, a young lady recently arrived from Scotland.

Teacher Appointed.

Mr. Angus B. McNeil, who succeeded in getting a Second A last teacher's examination, has been appointed to the North Saanich school in place of Mr. Rossiter, B. A., who has resigned to study medicine.

He Wants Company.

An old man living near Finlayson's orchard is, it seems, in the habit of enticing young lads to his cabin. The mother of one of these lads interviewed Sergt. Walker this morning with the object of frightening her young hopeful into the paths of virtue. She informed the sergeant that while she thought the boy was at school, he, with a number of others, was neglecting school in order to keep the old man company. The matter will be investigated by the police.

Board of Trade Report.

The annual report of the British Columbia Board of Trade has been issued. It covers the period from July 6th, 1888 to July 5th, 1889, and goes over a vast ground in a comprehensive form, which is both interesting and instructive. As regards immigration literature and special "write ups," this report is head and shoulders above anything of the kind ever issued. A hundred thousand of these reports, which have been tastefully printed in pamphlet form, judiciously distributed would be of incalculable benefit as far as setting forth the province in its true light to the world.
